

Creativity at the Core SUMMER INSTITUTE

Sponsored By CCSESA Statewide Arts Initiative

In Partnership with
Loyola Marymount University

August 4, 5, and 6, 2015

Los Angeles, CA

Setting: Loyola Marymount University Hall

Powerful presentations linking Visual and Performing Arts with California State Standards

Featuring the Creativity at the Core Modules developed through funding from the California Arts Council and the Hewlett Foundation

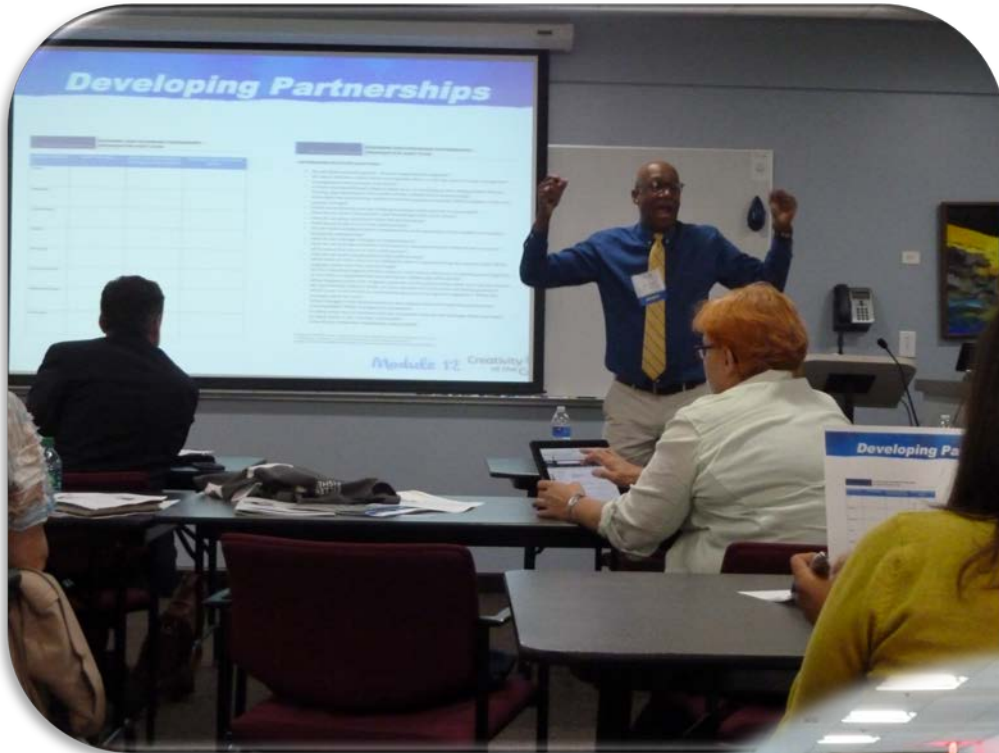

The Institute featured Two Strands: Administrative/Leadership Strand and Teacher Strand

Here's a glimpse of educators and arts specialists at work together

✦ Apply what we know about the brain.

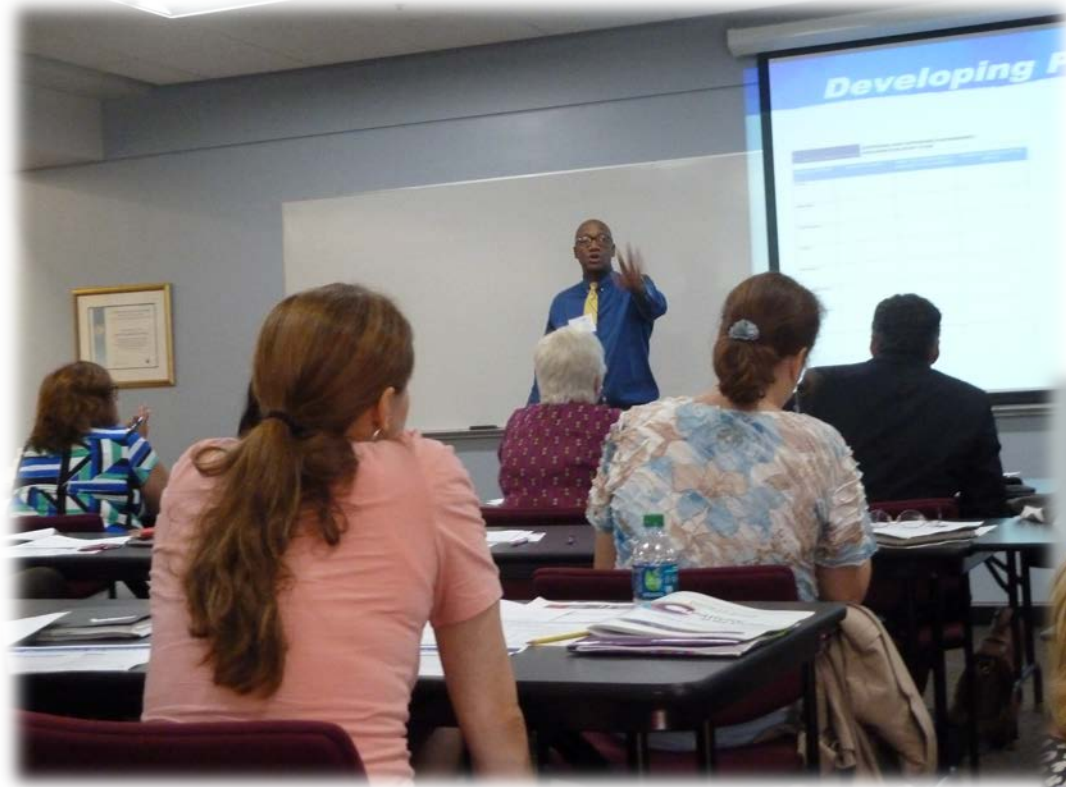

- Writing helps us sort things out.
- Writing helps us solve problems.
- Writing helps us move new learnings into long-term memory.

- Writing helps us personalize understanding.
- Writing makes us smarter.

Inspiring Voice • Francisca Sánchez

Opening Session

Carrie Roberts, California Department of Education

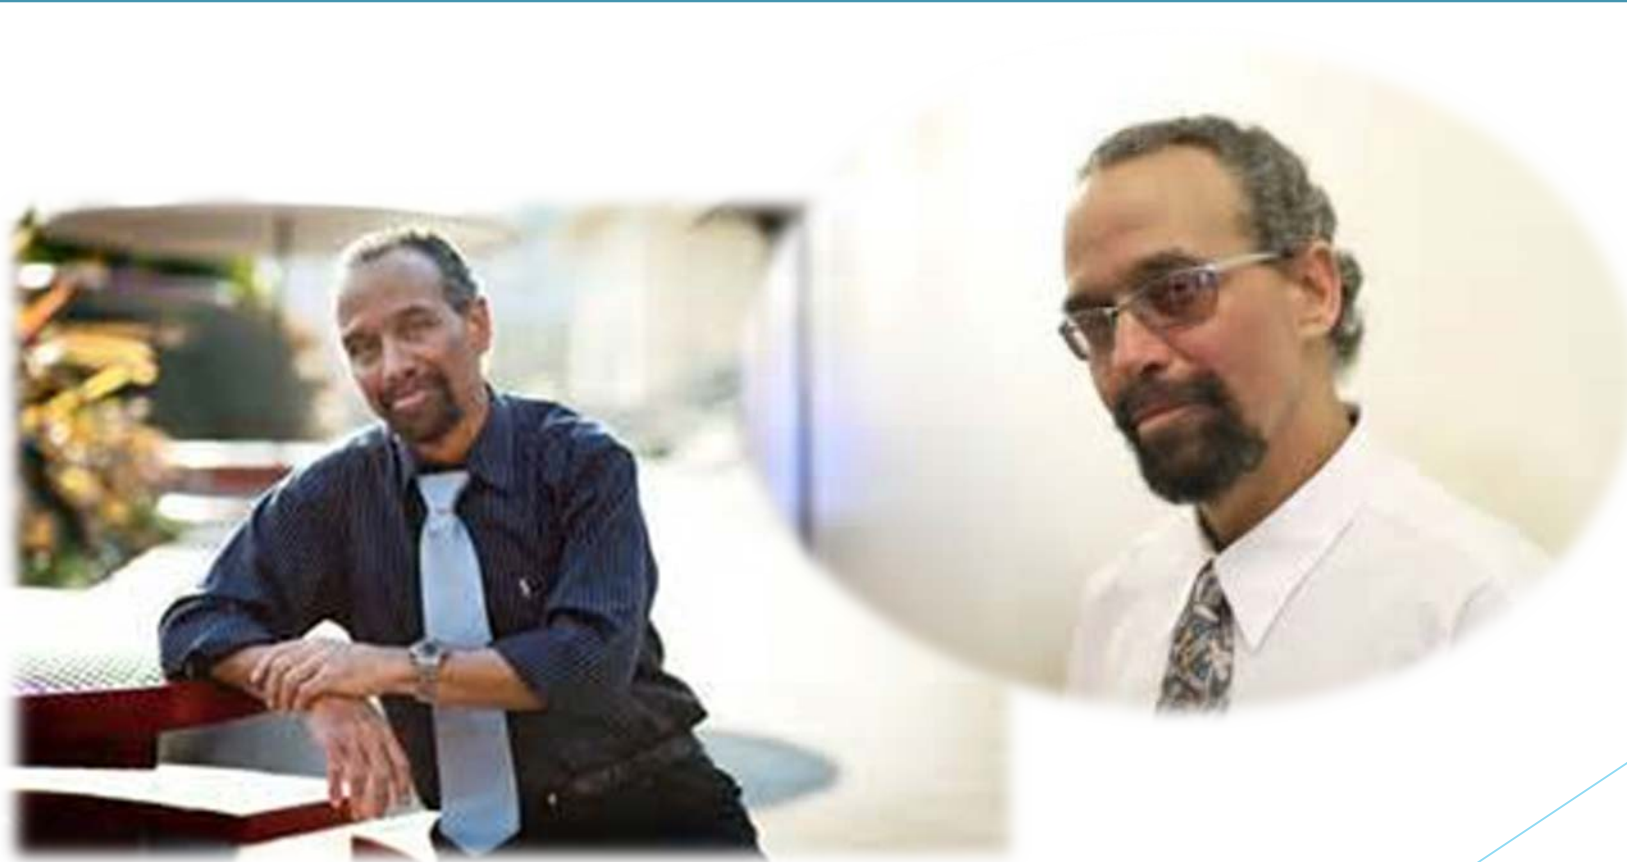

Opening Session on Day 2

Francisca Sanchez and Ana Maria Alvarez

Opening Session on Day 3

Donn Harris, Chair of The California Arts Council and Executive Director of Oakland School for the Arts

Panel Discussion on Day 3

INNOVATIVE LEADERSHIP IN ACTION: PARTICIPANTS SHARE RESULTS OF GROUP REFLECTIONS

Art Work Created By Participants

Creativity at the Core

Leadership Advisory

